LAND OVERVIEW

Land can present numerous options—whether you are considering commercial real estate to buy, lease, or invest. The property can be totally undeveloped or ready for construction. Developers are the first step in converting raw land into an income-producing property. CENTURY 21 professionals are often knowledgeable about the local zoning, city's or town's master plan, as well as local attitudes about growth and development. These factors are worth considering for every decision if land is to be utilized for income, tax relief and appreciation. However, you should consult with your tax advisor about specific tax and financial advice.

PROPERTY CHARACTERISTICS

"Ready for construction" typically indicates that a developer improved upon raw land with grading, utilities and possibly streets. Zoning will ultimately determine the possible use. Your CENTURY 21 representative will facilitate the analysis process to ensure that the land is appropriate for your needs. Possible development includes residential, commercial, office park, golf course and more. CENTURY 21 Commercial sales professionals can provide information on civil engineers, attorneys, surveyors, environmental testing companies, local officials and authorities to assist in your property evaluation. All factors will be considered to help locate the land best suited to your expectations.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

CENTURY 21 Commercial sales professionals can facilitate the process of analyzing location, trends, populations and other demographics that may help to minimize risk. In addition, CENTURY 21 Commercial sales professionals have access to resources that can help to assess the challenges associated with zoning, environmental and occupancy requirements. A Cash-Flow Model might also be used to analyze and estimate an investment's income, expenses, and yield. The availability of forecasted conditions in the real estate market and the impact on a given property may also be used to evaluate each potential investment.
